HOW TO USE THE SUPPLEMENT.

THE titles of the articles and defined words and phrases are repeated in the order in which they are to be found in the AMERICAN AND ENGLISH ENCYCLOPÆDIA OF LAW, Second Edition. At the top of each page are given the name of the subject and the pages thereof which are supplemented by reference to and statement of the late cases. Thus:

961-968 AGENCY. Vol. I.

at the top of a page signifies that pages 956 to 961 of the article "Agency" in the first volume of the Second Edition are supplemented.

The large heavy-faced figures refer to the pages of the volume of the Second Edition. The small figure following the page number in the notes refers to the original note numbered by that same figure on that page. Thus, a note numbered 955. 2., with cases cited, indicates that those cases support the proposition to which the cases in note 2 on page 955 were cited.

The omission of a title that appeared in the Second Edition implies that no new cases on that subject have been found.

Mr. Henry H Van Dyck is entitled to special mention for his labors in the preparation of this volume.

ABATEMENT OF LEGACIES.

43. 1. Priority of Annuities. — Under Civ. Code Cal., § 1308, an annuity must abate ratably with residuary devisees to make up the share of a pretermitted child, there being nothing to the contrary in the will. Matter of Smith, 145 Cal. 118, 78 Pac. 369.

45. 3. Illustrations. — Where a testatrix, in addition to specific bequests, made provision for certain legacies, part of which were to be paid out of a designated trust fund, and added a codicil giving other pecuniary benefits which rendered the trust fund inadequate to pay the legacies dependent on it, it was held, in view of a provision in the codicil for the pro rata payment "of the sums given and bequeathed * * * if there should not be sufficient money left from the salable portions of my estate to pay the full amounts of the sums," that all the legacies, except the specific bequests, as well those to be paid out of the trust fund as those not, must abate pro rata upon a deficiency of the estate. Emmons v. Dow, 191 Mass. 170, 77 N. E. 310.

46. 1. Where Bequest Mere Bounty. — Matthews v. Targavona, 104 Md. 442, 65 Atl. 60, citing 1 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 50 et seq. for instances in which legacies purporting to be on considerations have been held not to be entitled to preference.

A gift of £3,000 to trustees of testator's daughter's marriage settlement in satisfaction of his covenant to pay them £1,000, held to abate, being a mere bounty. In re Wedmore, (1907) 2 Ch. 277.

4. The Forgiveness of the Debts of Testator's Sons to himself held to amount to specific legacies which were not liable to abatement. In re Wedmore, (1907) 2 Ch. 277.

7. Matthews v. Targavona, 104 Md. 442, 65 Atl. 60 (obiter); Plum v. Smith, 70 N. J. Eq. 602, 62 Atl. 763.

Express Direction. — A provision in lieu of dower, "to be left secured on my real estate," is a charge on the testator's lands. Plum v. Smith, 70 N. J. Eq. 602, 62 Atl. 763.

50. 1. Compare Matthews v. Targavona, 104 Md. 442, 65 Atl. 60, declaring that when "the consideration for a legacy has not been established as a subsisting, valid debt, for anything like the amount of the legacy, there can be no reason or principle of law, particularly in a court of equity, requiring the court to give it a priority over other legacies."

51½. 2. Legacies Given under a Sense of Moral Obligation. — Matthews v. Targavona, 104 Md. 442, 65 Atl. 60 (similar to Duncan v. Franklin Tp., 43 N. J. Eq. 145, stated in the original note).

62. 1. Statutory Provisions — California — "Obvious Intention" Controlling. — Matter of Smith, 145 Cal. 118, 78 Pac. 369.

Under the Iowa Statute providing that the amount of any interests which "it becomes necessary to satisfy in disregard of or in opposition to the provisions of the will, must be taken ratably from the interests of heirs, devisees, and legatees," it was held that, where a widow elected to take her dower in opposition to testamentary provisions in lieu thereof and thereby reduced the portions of two devisees, the latter would have their obligations to pay certain charges to others named ratably reduced. 302. 2. Physician Infected — "Operation." — Where a policy insured a physician against the results of septicæmia consequent on "performing any operation pertaining to the business of the insured," it was held that the insurer was liable where the infection was consequent on a wound sustained in opening a bottle for a patient. Central Acc. Ins. Co. v. Rembe, 220 Ill. 151, 77 N. E. 123.

4. Change in Classification. — Where the insured changed his occupation to another of equal hazard under the insurer's rules, and thereafter by a change in those rules the new occupation was placed in a more hazardous class, it was held that inasmuch as the policy was not in terms made subject to future alterations in the rules, the insured could not be affected thereby. Morse v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 190 Mass. 417, 77 N. E. 491. But where a benevolent society, by a change in its rules, placed the occupation of the insured in a more hazardous class, it was held that the new rule was a reasonable one, and that therefore the agreement of the insured to abide by the society's rules present or future was binding. Statute Regulating Sale Valid. — Com. v. Spencer, 28 Pa. Super. Ct. 301; Com. v. Mellet, 27 Pa. Super. Ct. 41.

Construction of Statutes. — Act Cong. May 9, 1902, 32 U. S. Stat. at L. 193, c. 784, § 1, making process or renovated butter on arrival in a state subject to the laws of such state in like manner as though produced in such state, confers no power on any person to remove the marks, etc., nor does it abrogate the penalty for a violation of any of the penal provisions of such act. U. S. v. Green, 137 Fed. 179.

Although Act Cong. Aug. 2, 1886, 24 U. S. Stat. at L. 209, c. 840, § 4, does not in terms make its violation a misdemeanor, such violations are in the nature of criminal offenses, and may be prosecuted by information or indictment. U. S. v. Joyce, 138 Fed. 455.

741. 1. If Below Standard, Wholesomeness Immaterial.—St. Louis v. Grafeman Dairy Co., 190 Mo. 570, 89 S. W. 627.

City Ordinances.—An ordinance designed to prevent the adulteration of milk is a proper exercise of the city's police power, the charter containing specific authority "to secure the general health." St. Louis v. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, 89 S. W. 611; St. Louis v. Reuter, 190 Mo. 514, 89 S. W. 628; St. Louis v. Bippen, 201 Mo. 528, 100 S. W. 1048; St. Louis v. Schottell, (Mo. 1907) 100 S. W. 1049.

Dealers may be required to register and pay a fee, as compensation for inspection, such fee not amounting to a tax. St. Louis v. Grafeman Dairy Co., 190 Mo. 492, 89 S. W. 617.

The ordinance may absolutely prohibit the use of artificial preservatives or coloring matter in milk, and the question of wholesomeness is immaterial. St. Louis v. Schuler, 190 Mo. 524, 89 S. W. 621; St. Louis v. Polinsky, 190 Mo. 516, 89 S. W. 625.

Trade Name No Defense.—Where the statute prohibits the sale of cream containing less than twenty per centum of fat, it is no defense to an alleged violation that the article sold is in fact condensed milk, sold under the trade name of "evaporated cream." State v. Tetu, 98 Minn. 351, 107 N. W. 953.

Constitutionality of Statutes.—The Minnesota statute (Laws Minn. 1903, c. 155), prohibiting the selling of cream containing less than twenty per cent. of butter fat, is constitutional. State v. Tetu, 98 Minn. 351, 107 N. W. 953. So Laws N. Y. 1893, c. 338, as amended by Laws 1900, c. 101, prohibiting the sale of adulterated milk, is valid. People v. Bowen, 182 N. Y. 1, 74 N. E. 489.

742. 1. Regulations as to Skimmed Milk.—One who sells milk, the product of his own cows, is a "dealer" within the Ohio statute regulating the sale of skimmed milk. Guilder v. State, 26 Ohio Cir. Ct. 221.

3. Method of Test.—An ordinance fixing the standard of milk at a certain per cent. of butter fat, "estimated gravimetrically by the Adams paper coil process," is reasonable. The legislative body, dealing with a scientific question, had the right to fix a scientific standard, and the court cannot take judicial cognizance as to the propriety of the test. St. Louis v. Grafeman Dairy Co., 190 Mo. 507, 89 S. W. 627. Nor is such a provision void as establishing a rule of evidence. St. Louis v. Bippen, 201 Mo. 528, 100 S. W. 1048.

Duplicate Sample to Be Delivered to Owner.—The provision in the New York statute as to the delivery of a duplicate sample is imperative, and a failure of the inspector to comply therewith will prevent a recovery of the penalty. People v. Weaver, 116 N. Y. App. Div. 594, 101 N. Y. Supp. 961.

The Official Chemist's Analysis May Be Attacked by evidence tending to show that it is incorrect. People v. Bowen, 182 N. Y. 1, 74 N. E. 489.

A Pint of Milk Is a Reasonable Sample within the Act of Congress requiring dealers to furnish a reasonable sample to the agent of the health department, and a half pint is unreasonable where the milk is only put up in pint jars. District of Columbia v. Garrison, 25 App. Cas. (D. C.) 563.

743. 1. Sale of Drugs.—Laws N. Y. 1900, c. 667, § 197, providing that pharmaceutical preparations shall be of the standard established by the U. S. Pharmacopœia, is not affected by section 199, excepting the sale of certain specified substances by merchants, such exception applying only to the duties of the state board of pharmacy regarding the granting of licenses and visitation. State Board of Pharmacy v. Gasau, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 52 Misc. (N. Y.) 490, 102 N. Y. Supp. 539.

Validity of Statutes.—Laws N. Y. 1902, c. 30, § 70*f*, requiring carcasses of calves shipped to have annexed a tag stating the names of the shipper and the person who raised the calf, the points of shipping and destination, and the age, is not unconstitutional as regulating interstate commerce, and is within the police power of the state. People v. Bishopp, 106 N. Y. App. Div. 266, 94 N. Y. Supp. 773.

The amendment of Pub. Acts Mich. 1893, No. 211 (Laws Mich. 1905, Act No. 12) is constitutional, and the provisions fixing a standard of pure food for domestic animals are sufficiently within the scope of the original act establishing the dairy and food department. Pratt Food Co. v. Bird, 148 Mich. 631, 112 N. W. 701.

The South Dakota statute establishing a state food and dairy department and regulating the sale of foods, etc., so as to prevent adulteration [Laws S. Dak. 1905, c. 114], is within the police power of the state, except in so far as section 11, requiring the manufacturer's name and the location of the factory to appear on each container, constitutes an unreasonable interference with interstate commerce. Jewett v. Smail, (S. Dak. 1905) 105 N. W. 738.

Act Pa. June 26, 1895, P. L. 317, entitled "An act to provide against the adulteration of food," is unconstitutional so far as it assumes to apply to drink. Com. v. Kebort, 212 Pa. St. 289, 61 Atl. 895.

Question for Jury.—Under a statute providing that an article of food, containing no deleterious ingredients, shall not be deemed adulterated, if branded or labeled so as to indicate that it is a compound and to show its constituents, it is a question for the jury whether the label "honey syrup" is a sufficient characterization. People v. Berghoff, 112 N. Y. App. Div. 772, 99 N. Y. Supp. 201.

Possession by Tenant. — "When a tenant is placed in possession of a definite part of a larger tract of land, the possession will not avail the landlord beyond the part so claimed and held. If, however, one claiming under assurance of title defining boundaries, place a tenant in possession without limiting him to any definite part, the tenant's possession will extend to the landlord's boundaries, although the land actually occupied will be but a small part of the whole." 866. 1. And thus where one claims constructive possession through a tenant under an agreement that after five years a certain part of the property shall belong to the tenant, the landlord secures no rights under a ten-year statute of limitation, his tenant not having reduced any more land to actual possession than he was entitled to under the agreement. Continuing Good Faith. — If the original possession was taken in good faith, subsequent knowledge of a defect in title rendering the continued possession fraudulent, will not defeat a prescriptive title. Bower v. Cohen, 126 Ga. 35, 54 S. E. 918. Continuity of good faith is not necessary. Bennett v. Calmes, 116 La. 598, 40 So. 911.

In Mississippi, by statute, a bond is sufficient whether it describes the offense actually committed or not. Smith v. State, 86 Miss. 315, 38 So. 319, where the bond charged robbery and the forfeiture was had for failure to answer a charge of grand larceny.

In New York an inaccurate or insufficient description of the crime, or a failure to state a crime, does not relieve the surety from liability. People v. Torn, 110 N. Y. App. Div. 676, 97 N. Y. Supp. 523.

In the Federal Courts a sufficient specification of the charge is that the accused appear to answer "such matters and things as have or shall be objected against him." Kirk v. U. S., (C. C. A.) 137 Fed. 753, affirmed 204 U. S. 668, 27 U. S. Sup. Ct. 788; U. S. v. Graner, 155 Fed. 679.

Under the Texas Statute (Code Civ. Pro., art. 209) a bail bond must describe a felony as a felony and a misdemeanor as a misdemeanor. Wisdom v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1905) 86 S. W. 756. Under the statute, to clearly identify the offense by any description is sufficient. U. S. v. Zarafonitis, (C. C. A.) 150 Fed. 97. This statute is complied with where the recognizance describes the offense as "embezzlement over the value of fifty dollars," as that describes a felony. Nichols v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1904) 83 S. W. 1113. A recognizance not stating the amount embezzled leaves it in doubt as to whether the offense is a misdemeanor or felony and is insufficient. Nichols v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1904) 83 S. W. 1113.

3. Payment of Check by Insolvent Bank. — If a bank, though insolvent, is still conducting its business and pays a check of a depositor in the usual course of business, and the depositor has no notice of the insolvency of the bank, the payment is good, and the depositor will be protected. If, however, the depositor is paid, not in the usual course of business, but at a time when he has notice or knowledge that the bank is insolvent, and that the intent of the bank is to create a preference in his favor over other creditors, the payment is not good, and such depositor is liable to repay to the bank, or its representative, such an amount as would be the difference between the amount received by him and his pro rata share of the assets of the bank upon a final winding up of its affairs. Pregnancy or Intercourse. — It is not error to exclude evidence that up to the date of her confinement the prosecutrix, a girl of eighteen years of age, denied that she was pregnant or had ever had sexual intercourse. Johnson v. Walker, 86 Miss. 757, 39 So. 49.

2. By Statute such declarations of a deceased mother may be made admissible. Johnson v. Walker, 86 Miss. 757, 39 So. 49.

In Rebuttal. — The admission of evidence in rebuttal to support the prosecutrix's testimony is within the sound discretion of the court. Eckhardt v. People, 116 Ill. App. 408.

Contradiction as to Date. — Where the contradiction between the testimony of the prosecutrix and that of the defendant is irreconcilable, it is error to exclude testimony that the defendant at the time to which the testimony of the prosecutrix refers was seriously ill and confined to his bed. Com. v. Pearl, 29 Pa. Super. Ct. 307.

Confined Within Period of Gestation. — Zimmerman v. People, 117 Ill. App. 54.

A Witness's Testimony of Acts of Intercourse Outside the Period of Gestation is inadmissible to contradict the prosecutrix, in the statement made by her, that she had never had intercourse with him. Allred v. State, (Ala. 1907) 44 So. 60.

884. 1. Allred v. State, (Ala. 1907) 44 So. 60.

885. 4. Testimony of a witness that the bastard child resembled the accused was held inadmissible in McCalman v. State, 121 Ga. 491, 49 S. E. 609. But see Higley v. Bostick, 79 Conn. 97, 63 Atl. 786, holding that it was proper to exhibit the child, then nearly a year old, to the jury for the avowed purpose of showing its claimed resemblance to the defendant. See also Shailer v. Bullock, 78 Conn. 65, 61 Atl. 65.

Immaturity of Child. — See Com. v. Pearl, 33 Pa. Super. Ct. 97.

Presence of Child at Trial. — Esch v. Graue, 72 Neb. 719, 101 N. W. 978.

It was held not error to permit the prosecutrix to take with her upon the stand the child, then eight months old, where it did not appear that she had any friend present to take care of the child. Benes v. People, 121 Ill. App. 103.

It is not error for the court to permit the complaining witness to hold her baby in her arms while testifying, where there is no effort to offer the baby in evidence, or to exhibit it to the jury. Johnson v. State, (Wis. 1907) 113 N. W. 674.

The Momentary Presence of the Child before the jury does not constitute reversible error, where it was not exhibited to the jury and attention was not called to it in any way. Johnson v. Walker, 86 Miss. 757, 39 So. 49.

Question of Resemblance Submitted to Jury.— After the district attorney in the presence of the jury took the child, then sixteen months old, in his arms and commented on the resemblance between it and the defendant, it was held that the court fairly submitted the question of alleged similarity to the jury by saying, "if there is any resemblance between the child and this defendant which is apparent to the jury, the jury is at liberty to take that fact into consideration." Com. v. Pearl, 33 Pa. Super. Ct. 97, citing 3 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 885.

Refusal to Require Child's Production.— An error of the court in refusing to require the prosecutrix to produce the child in court is cured by the subsequent production of the child before the jury and calling their attention thereto. Stahl v. State, 67 Kan. 864, 74 Pac. 238.

3. See Reffell v. Morton, 70 J. P. 347.

Where There Are Corroborating Facts and Circumstances, the verdict against the defendant will not be set aside on the ground that the prosecutrix's testimony was inherently weak and unreliable. Higley v. Bostick, 79 Conn. 97, 63 Atl. 786.

By Statute in Indiana corroboration of the evidence of the prosecutrix is not necessary. Evans v. State, 165 Ind. 369, 6 Ann. Cas. 813, 74 N. E. 244, 75 N. E. 651.

887. 1. See McCalman v. State, 121 Ga. 491, 49 S. E. 609, holding that upon a trial under an indictment charging the accused with the offense of bastardy, evidence that he had previously been tried under an indictment charging him with the seduction of the mother of the bastard child, and found guilty of the offense of fornication, was irrelevant and inadmissible.

2. When Immaterial. — Where the defendant denies having had intercourse with the prosecutrix during the period of gestation, his letters not written during that period are properly excluded as immaterial. Allred v. State, (Ala. 1907) 44 So. 60.

In Burton v. Belvin, 142 N. Car. 151, 55 S. E. 71, the court said: "It is true that a contract for future cohabitation is immoral and void, as against public policy. But a contract in consideration of past cohabitation to support the mother and children is in the nature of reparation, as far as it goes, and to be commended. It is neither void nor immoral, even though the illegal cohabitation continues, if there is no stipulation for future cohabitation."

Execution of Contract. — In an action on a contract for the support of a bastard child, the evidence must establish the indispensable fact of the execution of the contract by the alleged father. Butler v. Setser, (Ky. 1907) 99 S. W. 972.

Legitimation by Father — Right of Inheritance. — A statute which authorizes a bastard child acknowledged by a man dying without legitimate children to inherit applies where the acknowledgment was prior to the statute. Daggy v. Wells, 38 Ind. App. 27, 76 N. E. 524; Townsend v. Meneley, 37 Ind. App. 132, 74 N. E. 274, 76 N. E. 321.

In Indiana a bastard may, by statute, inherit from his father except where the latter left surviving legitimate children or descendants of legitimate children, where the former has been publicly acknowledged by the latter as his son during his lifetime. Bonham v. Doyle, 39 Ind. App. 434, 77 N. E. 859.

In Iowa a bastard child is, by statute, entitled to inherit from his father if it sufficiently appears that the latter publicly recognized him as his own child. Morgan v. Strand, 133 Iowa 299, 110 N. W. 596.

Legitimation by Father — Right of Inheritance. — It has been held that where a bastard has been legitimated by a public acknowledgment by the father, under a statute providing for that manner of legitimation and declaring that every illegitimate child is an heir of the father so acknowledging him, the right once vested in the illegitimate extends to his descendants and they likewise become heirs in the event of the death of their father. In re Garr, 31 Utah 57, 86 Pac. 757.

Children legitimated by notarial act have the same legal status as heirs as have children born in lawful wedlock. Davenport v. Davenport, 116 La. 1009, 41 So. 240.

A writing which sufficiently complies with a statute providing for legitimation by written acknowledgment establishes the heirship of the child legitimated. Pederson v. Christofferson, 97 Minn. 491, 106 N. W. 958.

Inheritable Blood as to Mother. — Where by statute illegitimates have been given inheritable blood as to the mother, the blood relatives of such a person include his brothers and sisters of the common mother, though they are also illegitimates, and also include their descendants. Sander's Estate, 126 Wis. 660, 5 Ann. Cas. 508, 105 N. W. 1064.

893. 1. Will Construed — "Heirs" — "Children" — "Grandchildren." — In the absence of statutory provisions modifying the common law with respect to illegitimate children, the words "issue," "child," or "children" found in a will, whether qualified by the word "lawful" or not, are to be construed as referring only to those who are legitimate, and, if others are intended, this must be deduced from the language employed, without resort to extrinsic facts. Brisbin v. Huntington, 128 Iowa 166, 5 Ann. Cas. 931, 103 N. W. 144.

The Kentucky Statute. — Hall v. Hall, 82 S. W. 300, 26 Ky. L. Rep. 610.

In Nebraska, under section 31 of chapter 23 of the Compiled Statutes of 1903, "the parents must, after the marriage, have had other children, and the father must have adopted the bastard into his family, or acknowledged him in writing signed in the presence of a competent witness." Written Acknowledgment. — So long as the written acknowledgment complies with the statute, it is not necessary that it be made for the express purpose of legitimation. Pederson v. Christofferson, 97 Minn. 491, 106 N. W. 958.

Under the Nebraska statute providing for legitimation by written acknowledgment, it has been held that the writing must be one in which the paternity is directly, unequivocally, and unquestionably acknowledged. Moore v. Flack, (Neb. 1906) 108 N. W. 143.

W. 144, where it was held that the evidence fell far short of establishing either general or notorious recognition.

Where the Statute Does Not Fix Any Method or Standard by which a putative father may acknowledge his illegitimate offspring, such acknowledgment may be established by evidence in each particular case, as any other fact may be established. Townsend v. Meneley, 37 Ind. App. 127, 74 N. E. 274, 76 N. E. 321.

W. 828, holding that the effect of legitimation is to place a child in the same favorable position as one born during wedlock; that it can only be rendered a bastard after such legitimation by the same kind of proof which is required to overturn the legitimacy of a child born in lawful wedlock; and that it is entitled to the same presumptions.

Retrospective Effect. — Provisions of a statute for the legitimation of bastard children by acknowledgment without marriage apply to children acknowledged before the enactment of the statute. Townsend v. Meneley, 37 Ind. App. 127, 74 N. E. 274, 76 N. E. 321.

4. In Some of the United States the Same Principle Has Been Adopted. — Hall v. Gabbert, 213 Ill. 208, 72 N. E. 806, holding further, however, that "On the other hand, it cannot be material that the claimant could not inherit under the laws of some other state. * * * If he bring himself within the requirements and provisions of the statutes and laws of this state he may take according to them."

Municipal Ordinance. — An ordinance requiring the placing at night of lights upon piles of material left in the street by persons using the same in construction, repair, or alteration of buildings, is admissible in evidence, on the question of negligence in an action for injuries resulting to a bicyclist in running into a pile of cinders placed in the street by defendant, notwithstanding the cause of action pleaded is not founded upon the ordinance, but upon the negligence of the defendant. Christman v. Meierhoffer, 116 Mo. App. 46, 92 S. W. 141.

Rogers v. Binghamton, 101 N. Y. App. Div. 352, 92 N. Y. Supp. 179.

23. 1. Failure to Enact Prohibitive Ordinance. — A municipal corporation which has merely failed to pass an ordinance prohibiting the riding of bicycles on its sidewalks, and not having in any way authorized it, is not liable to a person for injuries received on a sidewalk by being run into by a bicyclist riding thereon. causes, the insurer would not be liable, the insurer is not liable for the death of the insured resulting from appendicitis, due to the movement of the "psoas" muscle in riding a bicycle. Negotiable Instruments Law. — The Iowa Code, Supp. 1902, par. 3060a23, provides that "Where a signature is forged, or made without the authority of the person whose signature it purports to be, it is wholly inoperative, and no right to retain the instrument, or to give a discharge therefor, or to enforce payment thereof against any party thereto, can be acquired through or under such signature, unless the party against whom it is sought to enforce such right is precluded from setting up the forgery or want of authority." Under this provision the forged unauthorized signature of any party cannot be made the basis of any right against any party to the instrument on which such signature appears. It does not follow, however, that proof of one forged signature on a note must of necessity and in all cases be given effect to avoid the note in favor of those whose signatures thereto are found to be genuine. This provision does not apply in favor of persons who are parties to the wrong, either actively in procuring it to be done, or passively by acquiescence on full knowledge. Beem v. Farrell, (Iowa 1907) 113 N. W. 509.

Under the Wisconsin Negotiable Instruments Law (Laws 1899, c. 356, § 1676), which provides that the title of a person who negotiates an instrument is defective when he obtains the instrument or any signature thereto by fraud, if a party so defrauded be released from liability on the instrument such fraud makes the instrument voidable by all other persons who sign it, though they did not participate in and were ignorant of the fraudulent conduct at the time they signed. Hodge v. Smith, 130 Wis. 326, 110 N. W. 192.

Under the further provision of the same section of this statute, that the title of a person negotiating any note is absolutely void when the instrument or signature to it was fraudulently procured from a person who did not know the nature of the instrument and could not have obtained this knowledge by the use of ordinary care, the title to the instrument is void not only as to such signers whose signatures were fraudulently procured, but also as to all of them. COMPOUNDING OFFENSES.

401. 1. Richter v. Phœnix Bldg., etc., Co., 27 Ohio Cir. Ct. 793.

The Agreement must be not to prosecute the person guilty of the felony, or, as said in some cases, "the guilty person" or "the criminal." State v. Hodge, 142 N. Car. 665, 9 Ann. Cas. 563, 55 S. E. 626.

Sufficiency of Information. — An information for misprision of felony must allege that the defendant intended to hinder the course of judgment and to cause the felon to escape unpunished. An information alleging that the defendant "did conceal and keep secret" is insufficient without further words showing a neglect to discover the felony, with the name and place of resort of the felon. State v. Wilson, (Vt. 1907) 67 Atl. 533.

402. 4. Must a Crime Have Been Committed? — In State v. Hodge, 142 N. Car. 665, 9 Ann. Cas. 563, 55 S. E. 626, the court said: "It would seem that, in the light of the language uniformly used, there could be no doubt that, before a conviction can be had, it must be made to appear that a felony has been committed by the person with whom the corrupt agreement was made."

403. 1. Indictment Must Charge that Defendant Had Knowledge of Actual Commission of Crime. — The indictment must allege that a felony had been committed and that the felon was known to the defendant. State v. Hodge, 142 N. Car. 665, 9 Ann. Cas. 563, 55 S. E. 626.

An information is sufficient if it sets forth in form and substance with time and place the commission of grand larceny, with the name and place of the offender, all of which the respondent on the same day and at the same place knew, etc. State v. Wilson, (Vt. 1907) 67 Atl. 533.

The Indictment Must Charge the Agreement, which is the gist of the offense. State v. Hodge, 142 N. Car. 665, 9 Ann. Cas. 563, 55 S. E. 626.

Bad Information. — An information that charges the compounding of a crime, based on a violation of the local-option law, and fails to allege the legal publication of the result of the election in the county, is bad. It is also bad for failure to allege that there was an agreement between the accused and his associates to make an agreement with a third person to obtain the money. Williams v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1907) 100 S. W. 149.

407. 1. Venue of Offense. — Where the defendant went into another county and induced the party to go to the county where the misdemeanor was committed and the guilty party resided, and secure from him money and property in consideration of the defendant's not prosecuting him, it was held that the offense was committed in the county where the misdemeanor was committed. Powell v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1907) 101 S. W. 1006.

409. 2. An Agreement to Abandon or Suppress the prosecution is necessary. Merely telling a person that he will be prosecuted if he does not obtain a mortgage from another will not vitiate the mortgage when obtained. Moyer v. Dodson, 212 Pa. St. 344, 61 Atl. 937.

Effect of Legality of Consideration. — Where a father guarantees the debts of his sons to suppress a criminal prosecution against them, the fact that the father gave legal consideration does not make the guaranty valid. Beale, etc., Dry Goods Co. v. Barton, 80 Ark. 326, 97 S. W. 58.

410. 2. An Agent's Agreement not to prosecute is binding on his principal so far as to vitiate a note and mortgage given in consideration thereof. Corbett v. Clute, 137 N. Car. 546, 50 S. E. 216.

An Agreement to Pay for the Return of a Watch presumed to have been stolen is not compounding a felony, and is valid and enforceable. Schirm v. Wieman, 103 Md. 541, 7 Ann. Cas. 1008, 63 Atl. 1056. See generally the title REWARDS.

Discontinuance of Bastardy Proceedings. — A mortgage executed to secure the support of a mother and child and to have bastardy proceedings against the son discontinued is not against public policy, and is valid. Jangraw v. Perkins, 77 Vt. 375, 60 Atl. 385.

In Cooper v. Smith, 125 Ga. 167, 53 S. E. 1013, it was held that, where the seller seizes the property under an attachment sued out for the purchase price and himself buys the property under an illegal sale, before the rendition of judgment in his favor, it does not amount to an election to rescind the contract.

3. Receipt Negativing that Goods When Received Were "In Good Order." — A railroad company, receiving goods from a connecting line, may protect itself from the conclusive presumption arising from a receipt expressly stating that the goods were "in good order," or from a rebuttable presumption arising from a failure to state the condition of the goods in a receipt, by a receipt setting forth an exception as to the condition of the goods. Any statement in the receipt negativing that the goods, when received, were in good order, will relieve the company from a presumption that they were in such condition. Southern R. In Michigan the rule is that where goods are transported by successive carriers, and an action is brought against the terminal carrier for damage to the goods, it is not enough to show that the goods were delivered to the initial carrier in good condition, but it is incumbent upon the plaintiff to show that they

In Mississippi by statute the last carrier of damaged goods or goods part of which are lost must furnish on demand true copies of "all notations, exceptions, records, and memoranda entered on the books of each carrier touching the receipt, transfer, and handling of the freight while in transit," and its failure to furnish the same gives rise to a presumption that it caused the damage. Miss. Code 1892, § 4301. The presumption raised is a conclusive one. Russell v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 87 Miss. 806, 40 So. 1015. As to the "demand" it was held in Threefoot v. New Orleans, etc., R. Co., 89 Miss. 192, 43 So. 303, that a request by the consignee to trace a shortage was not a demand within the meaning of the statute.

642. 2. Contrary View. — Under a recent Texas statute making any one of the connecting carriers liable for losses occurring anywhere on the line of shipment, it is held, contrary to the rule in the text, that a connecting carrier cannot by contract limit its liability to losses occurring on its own line provided the shipment is not an interstate one. Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Terry, (Tex. Civ. App. 1905) 89 S. W. 792.

Consideration Must Be Serious and Proportionate to Value of Contract — Civil Law. — The civil law, differently from the common law, requires that the consideration of a contract be serious, and not out of all proportion with the value of the contract. Hence, in a contract of more than $100 in value, the traditional one dollar consideration of a common-law contract is looked upon by the civil law as not being a serious consideration; that is to say, as not being any consideration at all. And the same may be said of two dollars for the privilege of retiring at any time from such a contract. Murray v. Barnhart, 117 La. 1030, 42 So. 489.
